LOCALS TO VOTE

On the Proposition of Prescription Bottle Blowers

TO WITHDRAW FROM THE FLINTS

If Two-Thirds of the Prescription Local Unions Vote for Secession the Measure Carries—Little Opposition Has Developed, and No More is Expected—Details of the Meeting Were Difficult to Obtain. The Visitors Leave Town.

The two-days' meeting of representatives of the prescription bottle blowers' branch of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union, held for the purpose of considering the pressing needs of the trade, and especially with regard to the proposed scheme of amalgamation with the Green Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada, and consequent withdrawal from the A. F. W. U., came to its conclusion late yesterday afternoon, and the result is that secession from the Flint and amalgamation with the Green Bottle Blowers' Association is practically accomplished.

An address to the twenty-four prescription bottle blowers' locals of the Flint was prepared, detailing the conditions that make it desirable to withdraw from the A. F. W. U., and affiliate with the Green Bottle Blowers' Association, and asking each local to vote on the double proposition of secession from one and amalgamation with the other. The proposition was carried by a large majority. The vote is to be taken by each local union and the result sent to the secretary of the amalgamation committee, James Conroy, Cumberland, Md. It is expected that the members of the prescription branch vote for secession from the Flint and amalgamation with the Green Bottle Blowers' Association.

The amalgamation committee is composed of Messrs. F. R. Jones, J. M. Conway, T. F. Brennan, C. A. Murray and J. A. Vol. If the amalgamation measure passes, this committee will meet with a similar committee of the Green Bottle Blowers' Association, and the convention of the two will arrange the terms of the combine. The officers of each organization are to resign and new officers for the amalgamated organization elected by the members. The Green Bottle Blowers' Association is composed of 3,000 members, and the prescription branch of the Flint has 2,500 members in twenty-four local unions.

The conference passed a resolution thanking the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly for the use of its hall and local union No. 52 of the Flint for courtesies.

Nearly 20 of the delegates had left town last night.

THE REYNOLDS TRIAL

The Late Secretary of the Guarantee Loan & Trust Company on Trial in the Criminal Court on the Charge of Embezzlement—President Taylor Testifies.

Yesterday, in the criminal court of Ohio county, the trial of F. W. Reynolds, who was secretary of the Guarantee Building & Loan Company, whose principal office was located in Wheeling, began, and is likely to continue for several days. Yesterday the only witness examined was Dr. D. H. Taylor, of this city, president of the company, and in the course of his testimony he made serious allegations against Reynolds. The charge of the indictment is embezzlement.

Dr. Taylor told of the alleged unauthorized taking to Washington City of the books and securities of the company by the defendant. He said there had been several attempts on the part of the directors to have Reynolds attend a meeting and present a statement of the condition of the company affairs. Reynolds at that time promised to have affairs in shape to present the directors with a statement on January 1; he also stated that he was about to make arrangements at Washington for a large sum of money to loan, but the witness said nothing along that line would be heard with the approval of the directors until the defendant's promised statement was made. To this the defendant agreed.

The witness said Secretary Reynolds' salary was $75 per month, with a percentage in addition if he could negotiate loans beyond $75,000. Regarding the Washington office of the company, the witness said that was entirely Reynolds' affair; the company was to bear none of the expense. In fact, the directors did not want the business extended to Washington, because there were more loans asked here than could be negotiated. The lease for the Washington office was introduced as evidence; it is in the name of F. W. Reynolds, and was first made out in the name of Reynolds and later transferred to the company.

The efforts to recover the books from Reynolds were told by the witness. Reynolds, he said, had a knack of putting off the directors. Finally at a meeting on January 1, Reynolds became angry and handed in his resignation with the request that a committee be appointed to arrive at the amount due him. The directors declined to accept the resignation until Reynolds had submitted the books for audit.

Then a committee of the directors, composed of the witness, who was the company's president, and Messrs. Sommerville and Ogden, was appointed to go to Washington with Reynolds and secure the books and securities. On the arrival at Washington, the witness testified that Reynolds left the party and broke a promise to join the Wheeling people at the office of the company. Later he went to the office, too late, it was alleged, to catch a train for Frederick, Md., where Reynolds had said he would have to go to secure the securities and books. Mr. Sommerville, the witness said, then told Reynolds that he had dodged a settlement too long, and must settle at once. Again Reynolds slipped away on a pretext, and he was not seen again until after 4 o'clock, when he informed the directors that they could not touch the books and securities; they had been enjoined from taking them by court. Mr. Sommerville investigating.

tinged and found this statement was correct. Then Mr. Sommerville had said: "Now, Reynolds, you are in a box; you have compelled us to go after you."

After this the testimony took another turn, and the Henry loan at Grafton, was told of. The loan had been paid in to the company, and $400, according to Reynolds, was sent to Washington to loan out; the balance was placed in a Wheeling bank to the company's credit. The cross-examination was conducted by Mr. Howard. The witness again asserted that Reynolds acted on his own individual responsibility in opening the Washington office. Mr. Howard produced an agreement in which President Taylor authorizes Reynolds to "negotiate any matters of financial nature for the Guarantee Loan & Trust Company." The witness insisted that Reynolds or someone interested had erased the word, "and bring before the board of directors," which he had written in with ink over a type-written line. The cross-examination was long and severe. The case will continue several days.

INTO THE RIVER

From the Steel Bridge an Unknown Man Jumped—A Colored Man and Two Women Witnessed the Act.

About 8:40 o'clock last night a colored man rushed into the toll office of the steel bridge and stated that he had just seen a man jump off the bridge into the river. Investigation followed, but there was little light thrown on the alleged suicide. The colored man, whose name is Gray, was coming from his home on the island, and saw the unknown man jump from the south railing, above the first pier. Two colored women who were close at hand, claimed to have witnessed the man's leap.

Toll-keeper Fox, at Gray's suggestion, notified the police, and Gray had another message sent from the street car office, and though it looked like an April Fool's joke, Gray's story appeared credible. He said that when he saw the man climb upon the railing, he supposed he was going to attend to the lights, but changed his mind when he saw the man deliberately jump into the river. He described the man as being about forty-five years of age, and of a sandy complexion. The women said they heard the splash when the man dropped.

Nothing further could be learned. It was said that Toll-keeper Fox had said the man was a colored man, and was about 50 years of age, and was a native of the south. Mr. Fox stated to an Intelligencer reporter that he had noticed no one in particular last evening, except one man halted some time before going over the bridge, and was being overtaken by a man, but then passed by without betraying any nervousness.

Government Receipts.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—The comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures during March shows that the total receipts were $32,958,750, a loss of about $2,000,000 as compared with March, 1897. The expenditures during March aggregated $34,958,750, an increase of nearly $5,000,000 over March, 1897. The increase is largely due to expenditures under the recent appropriation for the national defense. The customs during the month were over $7,000,000 less than March a year ago, which were then abnormally heavy on account of the pending tariff act. The receipts from internal revenue increased last month about $1,000,000.

A Beautiful Girl's Affliction.

From the Republican, Versailles, Ind.: The Tuckers, of Versailles, Ind., like all fond parents, are completely wrapped up in their children. Their daughter, Lucy in particular, has given them much concern. She is fifteen, and from a strong, healthy girl, three years ago, had become weak and kept falling off her feet. She had become a mere skeleton. She seemed to have no life at all. Her blood became impure and finally she became the victim of nervous prostration. Doctors did not help her. Most of the time she was confined to bed, was very nervous and irritable, and seemed on the verge of St. Vitus' dance.

"One morning," said Mrs. Tucker, "the doctor told us to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which he brought with him. He said he was treating a similar case with these pills, and they were curing the patient. We began giving her the pills and the next day could see a change for the better. The doctor came and was surprised to see such an improvement. He told us to keep giving her the medicine. We gave her one pill after each meal until eight boxes had been used, when she was well. She has not been sick since, and we have no fear of the old trouble returning. We think the cure almost miraculous."

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—The Chickering general bill declaring that enlistment in either army or navy will not deprive veterans of pensions for previous service has been agreed on in the house committee on invalid pensions with an amendment. The following amendment was adopted:

And also persons who served in the Confederate army during the late civil war, who shall hereafter serve in the army or navy of the United States for at least ninety days, shall be entitled to benefits of the act of June 27, 1890, and pensionable thereunder if shown to be unable to perform manual labor and dependent thereon for support. The bill was immediately favorably reported to the house.

FIRST ANNUAL REPORT

Of the Operation of the Day Nursery—The Work of the Nursery Has Grown With Each Passing Month.

The King's Daughters day nursery at 1610 Market street, under the direction and maintenance of the city union of King's Daughters, has been in existence one year yesterday. At a city union meeting in February of 1897, a motion was made to form a day nursery in this city, and as a home of this kind was badly needed, it met with the approval from all present, and immediately steps were taken to establish it. The officers, Mrs. Dr. Robert J. Reed, president; Miss Lizzie Swift, treasurer; Mrs. J. W. Brooks, vice president, and Mrs. George H. Ebeling, secretary, and the board of managers, from the different circles in the city, were then elected and committees appointed to go to work at once. The upstairs room of the building occupied by the nursery at the present time were then secured; also the services of the very able matron we have had since the opening of the institution. On April 10 we had our opening day and received donations of all descriptions, which was very encouraging for a new charity. We started out to board children by the day exclusively, and from the very beginning and applicants. The object of the nursery was to take care of children by the day, so as to enable their mothers to go out working. It was to be open from 6:30 in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening, and the small sum of five cents per day was to be charged for each child. Since our opening we have found the demand to board children by the week greater than the demand to care for them by the day. The board of managers of this kind being 11 per cent. The age of day boarders are limited to from two months to six years; those by the week from one year to six years. Mothers are allowed to visit their children during the day and up to 10 o'clock in the evening, and to take them out whenever the opportunity affords. So far we have been lucky in having very little sickness in the nursery, and as yet have had no deaths. We gave one entertainment during the year and realized quite a neat little sum.

On October 13 we had our harvest home
